IF YOU HAVE BEEN THE VICTIM OF A CRIME.....

People who experience a traumatic event in their lives often have a variety of physical and emotional responses. Strong reactions to crisis are normal and common. Some common responses to being a crime victim include:

- ▲ Embarrassment or feelings of guilt
- ▲ Difficulty concentrating
- ▲ Nightmares, insomnia or increased sleeping
- ▲ Mood swings and anger outbursts
- ▲ Forgetfulness or memory lapses
- ▲ Disinterest in previously valued activities
- ▲ Nausea and difficulties with eating

Following a traumatic event, it is not uncommon to feel like your life is out of control. It can be very helpful to continue with your normal activities as much as possible. Activities such as work, exercise, talking with friends and family, keeping a regular sleep schedule and taking time to relax can bring order and safety back into your life.

Phoenix Family Advocacy Center

A safe place to get help

City of Phoenix

OUR MISSION

To provide comprehensive services to victims of domestic and sexual violence, homicide and other violent crimes; and to take a leadership role in educating the community about the impact of violence.

VICTIM ADVOCACY SERVICES

The Family Advocacy Center provides victims the opportunity to obtain a variety of services without having to travel to multiple locations. At the Center, individuals are able to meet with victim advocates and police who are available to answer questions and provide emotional support.

COUNSELING AND CASE MANAGEMENT

The Family Advocacy Center provides counseling and long-term case management for victims of domestic and sexual violence through partnerships agencies—EMPACT-SPC and Jewish Family and Children’s Services (Shelter Without Walls).

FORENSIC MEDICAL EXAMS

Victims of sexual violence are able to receive a forensic medical exam at the Center, through a partnership with the HonorHealth Forensic Nurse Examiners under provisions of the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). Sexual assault victims and victims of domestic violence may receive a forensic medical exam at no charge and do not need to make a police report.

INVESTIGATION AND PROSECUTORIAL SUPPORT

A unique, victim-oriented, collaborative approach is used to investigate, intervene and prosecute domestic violence and sexual/physical abuse cases as well as physical assault, cases of homicide and death unknown.
