The City of Phoenix archaeological site records and files at Pueblo Grande Museum are managed by and under the control of the City Archaeology Office. In most cases, site locations are restricted information that should not be made available to the general public. Property owners, or their designated agents (e.g., archaeological consultants), are allowed access to the City's archaeological site records, but only as they pertain to their property and the immediate surrounding area (no more than one mile radius of the property). Users of the City of Phoenix archaeological site files who sign this form acknowledge the sensitive nature of the site information. They also agree to submit one copy to the City Archaeologist of all reports which make use of the City of Phoenix site information and to credit "Pueblo Grande Museum, City of Phoenix" in their reports. The City Archaeologist reserves the right to not reveal the specific location of certain sites if deemed necessary for the protection of the site. Violation of any of the above conditions may result in a denial of access to the City's archaeological site files.
